ARMY CANCER CURE

WASHINGTON. — Walter Reed General hospital has made some excellent progress in treating cancer, but it's kept such a hush-hush secret that the doctor in charge of cancer research, Lieut. Col. Milton Freedman, is about to be kicked upstairs because of a news leak.

It so happens that the amount of cancer in the army is high—so much so that the number of cases is kept secret. But one whole wing at Walter Reed hospital is devoted to cancer, and Dr. Freedman made so much progress that various editors got wind of what was happening and tried to print the story.

At this point, Surgeon Gen. Norman Kirk stepped in. It was made clear that medical corps policy did not permit mentioning the name of any hospital specialist. Only the surgeon general's office could be mentioned in connection with cancer research.

The cancer specialists didn't particularly mind this policy. But as an aftermath of this, Kirk wants Freedman kicked upstairs to an administrative post, where he would shuffle papers instead of practicing medicine. This Freedman refuses to do.

Meanwhile, doctors criticize Kirk for continuing his wartime policy of wasting medics. During the war he corralled 40 per cent of the nation's physicians, then let many of them spend about three months sitting idle for every month they devoted to medical practice. Some had so much free time, they even organized softball teams to keep themselves occupied. Many would have stayed on in the army, but were fed up with the regimentation of the surgeon general's office.

NORTH CAROLINA YANKEE

When administration friends approached Max Gardner, former governor of North Carolina, about being U. S. ambassador to the Court of St. James, Gardner replied:

"I've been bowin' and scrapin' to North Carolinians all my life, and in my old age I'll be darned if I want to be bowin' to anyone else now."

However, at this difficult period with British labor kicking over the traces against the British alliance with right - swinging, Republican bent USA, Gardner will make about the best possible choice for American ambassador—whether he put on knee breeches or not.

State department officials already have warned Gardner that he will have to hire a valet—which will go against the new ambassador's homespun humility. He also will live in Barbara Hutton's ornate former palace, surrounded by about 25 acres of park, featuring a swimming pool in the basement, gold bathroom fixtures and iron bars, worked by pushbuttons, that slide over the windows at night.

But, despite all the folderol, if the British are wise they will know that this astute but humble North Carolina Yankee at the Court of St. James represents the backbone of the USA from the grass roots up, and can speak simply but wholeheartedly for it.

FRIEND OF VETERANS

One interesting thing to watch in the new GOP congress is whether the Republicans carry out the La Follette-Monroney congressional reorganization bill.

Already the whisper is going around capitol cloakrooms that the Republicans will take the increased salary and pension benefits derived from the reorganization bill, but throw overboard provisions for increasing congressional efficiency. Already some Republicans are maneuvering to prevent consolidation of overlapping committees in order to preserve for themselves cushy chairmanships and extra money for clerical hire.

In this connection one important backstage battle is aimed at preventing motherly GOP Congresswoman Edith Nourse Rogers of Massachusetts from becoming chairman of the veterans committee. Mrs. Rogers has been a tireless worker for the veteran and, as ranking Republican on the veterans committee, she automatically should become its chairman. However, because of her long running feud with rootin' tootin' John Rankin of Mississippi, several Republicans and Democrats are conspiring to have her passed over.

Fair-minded Joe Martin, the prospective new speaker, has promised Mrs. Rogers that she will get the job, but despite this, the sub-rosa wire-pulling against her continues. If she is passed over, however, Capitol Hill is sure to witness a veterans' march of protest.

CAPITAL CHAFF

So much surplus American war material has been sent to the Chinese Nationalists in clearing off our Pacific islands—that the Chinese are looking for American businessmen to serve as brokers to resell to South America. President Truman has authorized Secretary Byrnes to ask the Republican congress to appropriate 400 million dollars for relief work in Austria, Greece and Italy during 1947. There will be no American money available for relief in Soviet-dominated countries.

Community Orchestra Does It Again

"Who are all those people, mum?"

"They are members of the Community Orchestra. See, they are taking their places beside their instruments."

"And who is the tall one with the long hands?"

"That is the conductor; his name is Mr. Brown. But you mustn't whisper while he's talking. He is telling you about the music."

Mr. Brown stepped to the center of the Memorial auditorium stage shortly after 3:30 on Sunday afternoon and described to his large audience the three divisions of classical, romantic and modern music on the program. He explained that the classical composers took their form from the ancient Greeks and that their music was clear, moderate and restrained, beautiful in form. The first selection to illustrate the classical was from "The Surprise Symphony" by Haydn. In a story-telling way, Mr. Brown told of the composer's suspicion that some of his audience were inclined to sleep during the quiet parts of his music and his "surprise" was his way of catching people napping.

The orchestra's playing of the andante, ever so softly, might have lulled the younger members of the audience into an afternoon nap if it hadn't boomeranged in a startling blare of sound, calling forth a series of giggles as the "surprise" was recognized.

"Did you hear that, mum? Did it wake you up?"

"Mozart," said Mr. Brown introducing the second selection, "started writing at the age of four." He explained how music, seemingly ready-made, flowed from the young composer's hands.

"What is that boy doing on the stage, mum? Is he going to play?"

Anton Kuerti strode on the stage as purposefully as an eleven year old can stride on the stage. His bow was dignified and he sat at the piano with calm self-assurance.

"Mum, can that little boy play, can he really PLAY?"

The orchestra began the Allegro from Mozart's "A Major Piano Concerto" and Toni sat expectantly on the long bench, his hands on his knees like a baseball player waiting for his turn at bat. His turn came and he played, really PLAYED.

The interest of the adult audience quickened. They sat forward in their seats straining to watch the small hands run rapidly over the keys, stretch to embrace the chords.

At the ovation that followed his playing, Tony announced that he would play "The Witches' Dance" by MacDowell and did so without music and without accompaniment. The energy of the encore required a more complete coverage of the key board and Toni managed it skillfully by hitching along the piano bench and when it was necessary to lean, his

"Can I play like that when I'm eleven, can I, mum?"

Toni's encore was a fitting introduction to the romantic portion of the program since it belonged to this classification along with Jarnefelt's "Berceuse" and Brahms' "Hungarian Dance No. 1" which were played by the orchestra. Mr. Brown told how the Romantic composers were tired of the restraint in the classical music and let their music run wild, appealing to the feeling rather than to the mind, a veritable letting the hair down.

The modern composers, on the other hand, became tired of the wild romantic compositions and reverted to the simple again. "Their harmony is different," said Mr. Brown, "queer sometimes." It speaks a new language and until you learn the language you might not understand it. "After you hear it a few times, you'll get to like it, and," said Mr. Brown, "I mean that for everyone in the room—including the conductor."

As an explanation of Stravinsky's "Pastoral," he had each of the woodwinds play a few measures separately so that the audience would recognize the individual sounds of the flute, oboe, clarinet, bassoon and horn, which, when played together, created the bucolic harmony that was recognizable.

It was difficult to tell who enjoyed whom the most, the youthful audience the orchestra, or the orchestra the audience, but it was quite evident that the players enjoyed the demonstrated enjoyment of the listeners. A student audience is a critical one since it's interest easily strays unless captured and held by the performers. There seemed to be no let down in spirits, Sunday, whether the music was classical or romantic or modern and the Community orchestra can once more be congratulated for a successful performance.

The characterization of the sounds in Prokofieff's March from "Peter and the Wolf," especially delighted the young people who listened to each character in the procession march by—Peter, the triumphant, the old grandfather characterized by the bassoon, the cat, the bird, the wolf and the duck, outside and inside of the wolf.

"It's like a fairy tale, mum. Isn't it just like a fairy tale?"

OUR COVER

The Memorial Hall library has been showing a series of hobby exhibits by townspeople and this week the glass case in the main library displays the woodturning of Ted Peterson, 79 Pine street. A small tray among the salad bowl, candy boxes and plates of different sizes was constructed while the articer was a student of the Junior class of Punchard but it wasn't until 1941, that Mr. Peterson began to take up wood-turning seriously as a hobby.

In the last few years, the cellar of his home has been transformed to a workshop equipped with circular and jig saws, lathes and other woodworking tools and our cover shows him working at his hobby with the skill that he has developed without special training.

His current project is the turning of a complete dinner set and already he he has completed eight bread and butter plates, eight dessert plates, six small salad bowls and a large serving bowl. The dinner plates are now in progress and each size plate is made of a different kind of wood so that the complete set will have variation in shade. Red cedar, native cherry, red birch and black walnut are some of the woods that have gone into the dinner set. The goblets that he is planning to make will be of maple.

After the objects are formed and a filler used, Mr. Peterson then sprays on a dry laquer nish which is then hand rubbed and waxed. The dishes are all acid resistant and the nish does not become damaged with use.

The dinner set is a novelty idea which Mr. Peterson originated and Mrs. Peterson is looking forward to the time when she will have her first complete table setting in wood.

Police Blotter...

January 3—Florian Marcoux of 16 Juliette street was arrested in Shawsheen square about midnight by officer William Steward for operating under the influence. He was fined $50 for the charge.

Mrs. Mary Bartlett skidded into a parked truck on Central street causing damage to the right rear fender of the vehicle. Owner of truck is unknown.

Vernon Porter of Prospect road was fined in District court $45 for operating under the influence; $20 for leaving the scene of an accident where damage occurred and $5 for operating without a license. The car that was hit is owned by Mr. Moody of Groveland.

January 9—Officer McBride was called to the Central school area on a report of indecent exposure about 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The man, a stranger in town, eluded the police and was traced to the railroad station and from there to Lupine road. He was described as being about 30 years old of dark complexion.

Mrs. Inness of 11 Sutherland street reported that her 3 year old daughter while sliding on that street which is blocked to traffic ran into a parked car. Medical care was necessary and three stitches were taken in the child's head.

Chief Dane stated that even when a street has been set aside for coasting, it is still not absolutely safe and that, although traffic is prohibited, the residents of the street can not be prevented from driving to their own homes. He therefore warns parents to double their caution and youngsters who can not control their sleds should not be allowed on any of the town streets unless accompanied by an older person.

The signs that have been posted by the Police Force have to be constantly replaced because of damage done to them by the sleds and the lanterns and horses placed on the streets for the convenience of the children also need constant repairs because of damage wilfully committed.

January 14—Mrs. McArdle of Wolcott avenue reported that a mix master was taken from her car when it was parked on Main street.

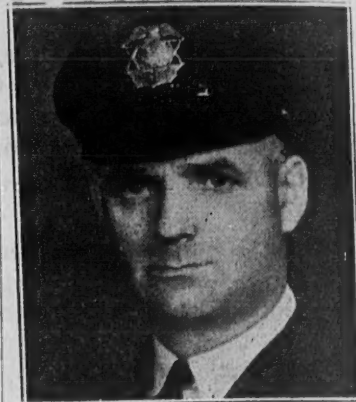

January 15—Reports of two breaks in camps in Lowell Junction were reported although the breaking and entering probably occurred some days before. Damage and glass breaking was committed although nothing was reported missing from either camp.

"But it's so small," protested the prospective tenant who was inspecting an apartment.

FRANK McBRIDE RETIRE AT 60

The Andover Police Department will lose one of its oldest veteran police officers when Frank McBride's retirement becomes effective on January 31. Frank, as he is known to most town residents, has been on the force for over 20 years.

As a patrolman his investigation work has been exceptional and he has conscientiously and untiringly followed through his cases without regard for the extra hours devoted to his job.

In commendation, Chief Dane stated that his word could always be depended upon, an admirable characterization that is especially valuable in police work.

Upon his retirement, Andover will also lose a reliable citizen as Frank is planning to move to Brookline where he has purchased a large apartment house on Chestnut Hill.

ROY HARDY TO SPEAK ON TAXATION

The speaker at the South church Men's Group meeting next Sunday at 9:30 a. m. will be Selectman Roy E. Hardy who will speak on "Taxation Without Misrepresentation." All men are welcome, especially those who are bringing children to the church school at that hour.

Coffee and doughnuts will be served.

Twenty-two members enjoyed a roast beef dinner last Tuesday served by the losing team in last year's membership contest.

BEATING THE GUN

This week we gave Addison Art Gallery a new name—Cochran. After viewing the current exhibit there, we came out in the beauty of the early evening and glanced with appreciation at the surrounding landscape and buildings. The Chapel looked particularly lovely in the half light—our aesthetic senses were slightly confused.

TOWN OF ANDOVER PUBLIC HEARING

Notice is hereby given that the Planning Board of the Town of Andover will hold a public hearing at the Town Hall on Friday evening, January 24, 1947 at 7:30 P. M. relative to the following proposed amendment to the Zoning By-Law: to extend the business district as defined by the By-Law and as shown on the plan thereof northerly from a point where it now ends at Lewis Street on the westerly side of North Main Street a distance of about seven hundred and eighty (780) feet to land now owned by the Boston & Maine Railroad and extending westerly one hundred (100) feet to land now included in the industrial zone on petition of Timothy Hurley and others.
PLANNING BOARD
By Sidney P. White
Chairman

Jan. 17, 1947

NEEDED: GRAINS OF SALT

Between now and the second Monday in March, a great deal of studying will have to be done. The voters themselves will have to do some, but the more detailed investigation will have to be done by the Finance Committee and the Taxpayers Association directors.

This year something must be done to keep the tax rate within reason. The first step in that direction would be the adoption of a less credulous attitude on the part of the two committees. They have a very difficult job, because it is almost impossible to analyze a departmental budget in the short time at their disposal. They have to place some faith in the department heads, but they must also remember that there are a lot of voters that have placed their faith in the Finance Committee and the Taxpayers Association directors. They have a very great responsibility.

Not everything suggested by a department will be found necessary or desirable. Not everything that the departments have been doing in the past is it necessary to continue. If money has been wasted, let's not continue to waste it just because some previous board decided to perform a certain service a certain way. Let's eliminate the unnecessary items in order to keep our tax rate down and to make it possible to get some of the more desirable new services performed.

One subject that should be given a great deal of study is the engineering department which the Board of Public Works established so hastily a few months ago. The Finance Committee and the Taxpayers Directors should find out in considerable detail just what has been done of value by the engineering department since its establishment. It should also find out just what the town will be saving by the continuance of this department. If it can be shown that the engineering department is performing work that would have been done anyway, at a less cost than can be done by outside help, it most certainly should be kept. But if the work that has been done was not necessary, and if it doesn't seem that there will be enough work to keep such a department busily occupied in the future, it should very certainly be scrapped at town meeting.

MISS FLETCHER TO SPEAK ON ROMANCE OF AIR AT SERVICE CLUB

Miss Lillian R. Fletcher, Assistant to the Director of Public Relations, Northeast Airlines will speak before the Andover Service Club on Thursday, January 23 at 6:15 p. m. Her topic will be "Romance of Air Transportation."

Few women are better qualified to discuss air travel than Miss Fletcher, who has flown more than half a million miles in the United States.

A graduate of the Nashua (N.H.) High School, the National Park Seminary in Washington and the Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston, Miss Fletcher has been active in aviation for the past seven and one-half years. She served as Supervisor of Stewardesses for Northeast Airlines for nearly three years.

An ardent aviation enthusiast ever since her first flight, Miss Fletcher enjoys nothing better than to encourage air-mindedness among New Englanders. In her talk she not only relates her many experiences in air travel but also discusses New England's promising air future.

Muller—Grant

A very pretty wedding took place at 3:00 on Sunday afternoon in the Free Christian Church when Miss Ruth Frances Grant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Grant of Andover street, became the bride of Herbert Muller, son of Mrs. Margaret Muller of High Plain road, West Andover. Rev. Levering Reynolds, pastor, performed the single ring service before a large group of relatives and friends. The church was beautifully decorated with palms and cut flowers for the occasion.

The bride, gowned in white slipper satin, was given in marriage by her father. Her dress was cut with train and she wore a finger tip veil and she carried white roses and sweet peas.

The maid of honor was Miss Jeanette Grant of Boston, sister of the bride, and she wore aqua rayon taffeta with a flowered wreath on her hair.

The bridesmaids were Miss Edna Koza of South Lawrence and Miss Jennie Palenski of Ballardvale. They wore similar gowns of Old Rose Crepe and their bouquets were yellow Pom-Poms.

The best man was Major Emil Muller of New Haven, Conn., brother of the groom.

The ushers were Charles Grant, the bride's brother, and Walter Muller, brother of the groom.

The nuptial music was played by the organist and during the ceremony Mrs. Alfred Harris sang "O Promise Me."

The bride's mother wore navy sheer with a corsage of red roses and the groom's mother wore plum colored sheer with a corsage of gardenias.

Following the ceremony, a reception for guests from Rhode Island, New Hampshire, Connecticut and friends and relatives was held at Shawsheen Manor.

During the evening, the couple left for a trip to New York and Florida. On their return they will reside at Highplain road.

Elected Secretary

Frank Ronan of 50 Morton street has been elected secretary of the Villanova club of Boston. The club recently reorganized after a wartime period of inactivity and plans are underway for a sports night and smoker to be held in February.

NOYES—WEFERS

Miss Claire A. Wefers, daughter of Mrs. Henry P. Wefers of 10 Arlington street, Lawrence, became the bride of John H. Noyes of 385 North Main street at a recent ceremony in St. Mary's church, Lawrence. Rev. William V. Donovan, O. S. A., officiated and Joseph M. Walsh played organ selections. Mrs. Mark McComiskey was the soloist.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Joseph Dunlap, and she wore a gown of ivory brocade satin in off-the-shoulder style and a finger-tip veil of illusion caught with orange blossoms. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and gladioli centered with an orchid.

Miss Margaret Reardon was the maid of honor and Miss Irene Dunlap, the bride's cousin, was the flower girl. The maid of honor's gown of coral bengaline was worn with a coral and blue feathered headdress and she carried a colonial bouquet. The flower girl wore turquoise with matching head-dress and also carried a colonial bouquet.

Thomas Noyes was his brother's best man and the ushers were John McDonald and Joseph Barrett, both of Andover.

A reception at the Merrimack Valley Golf club followed the ceremony. The couple will make their new home at 48 Thorndike street, Lawrence.

BIRTHS

A daughter Friday at the Lawrence General hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brennan of 7 Elm court.

A daughter Monday at the Clover Hill hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bergeron of 95 Woburn street.

A son Sunday at the Lawrence General hospital to Mr. and Mrs. John Townsend, 22 River street, Ballardvale.

A daughter, Elizabeth Caroline, to Mr. and Mrs. Hugh E. Kates at the U. S. Marine hospital, New Orleans, La., January 9. The mother is the former Dorothy E. Paine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis S. Paine of 40 Walnut avenue.

Jury Service

Everett S. Boutwell of High Plain road has been drawn for jury service for the first Superior Criminal court session in Salem and Francis X. Beirne of 14 Bartlet street will serve in the second session.

MORRISON—MARKERT

At a candlelight service in the South church which was tastefully decorated with evergreens and baskets of white snapdragons, Miss Merlene Markert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy T. Markert of 56 Chestnut street, became the bride of Howard Phillips Morrison, son of Mrs. Frederick Morrison, 82 Elm street, and the late Frederick H. Morrison, on January 4. Rev. Frederick B. Noss, performed the ceremony and organ selections were played by Weston L. Brannen.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a becoming ivory brocade gown with off-the-shoulder effect on train. Her floor length veil of illusion draped from a head-dress of orange blossoms and she carried a colonial bouquet of white roses and sweet peas.

Eleven-year-old Constance R. Markert, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor and her bouffant gown was of pale blue taffeta and net with a royal blue velvet head-band. She carried an old-fashioned bouquet of Joanna Hill roses and sweet peas.

The matron of honor was Mrs. George W. Weeks of East Greenwich, R. I., who was a college roommate of the bride. She wore rust velvet with a fitted bodice and full skirt. Mrs. David L. Markert, sister-in-law of the bride and the former Gladys Deyermund of this town, and Mrs. Stanley P. Campbell of Rockville, Conn., were the bridesmaids and wore similar gowns of royal blue velvet with pale blue headaddresses. They carried spray bouquets of Joanna Hill roses.

Frederick H. Morrison of New York city was the best man and the ushers were John H. and David L. Markert, brothers of the bride, and Robert M. Wood.

The reception was held in the South church vestry after which the couple left for a trip to Montreal, Canada. They will reside at 39 Spring Park avenue, Dracut.

Mrs. Morrison is a graduate of Pynchard high school and received her degree from Colby Junior college in 1945. The bridegroom is a graduate of Mount Hermon and attended Northeastern University for a year previous to entering the Army in 1943.

LOCAL

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Cole and Miss Constance Cole of High street and Miss Eleanor Kruschwitz of North Andover were in Gilford, N. H. on Sunday where they reported that the skiing was good.

90 YEARS YOUNG

Look Photo

January 13 was not an unlucky day for Mr. Eugene L. Whitcher of 9 Punchard avenue who on that date received the congratulations of many friends on his 90th birthday.

A birthday cake and other refreshments were served at the open house in honor of the event and many guests were present, some bringing gifts, some in the form of jokes and toys. Mr. Whitcher is young enough to take a joke.

Mrs. Whitcher, who herself is 86½ years young, was not able to join in the fun as she is confined to her room but she also enjoyed the visits of their mutual friends.

Mr. Whitcher, better known as "Gramp," was born on his father's farm in Dorchester, N. H., and one of his hobbies which he still enjoys is gardening, although fishing and camping fall next in line.

He is the father of Mrs. Frank Brigham who came to Andover in 1913. Mr. and Mrs. Whitcher have been living with the Brigham's most of the time since that year.

INITIATION PLANNED BY COURT ST. MONICA

The Court St. Monica No. 783, Catholic Daughters, held a business meeting at the St. Augustine's school hall Monday evening when plans were completed for the initiation to be held January 27, 7:30 in the school hall.

A social will follow the service with Mrs. Grace Sheehan, Mrs. Louise Manning, Mrs. Josephine Stone, Mrs. Helen Leak, Mrs. Lydia Sheibler and Mrs. Teresa Flemming serving on the committee.

Gren Regent, Mrs. Hortense Coupe gave a report on the state conference held in Boston recently.

VETERANS TO HEAR COMMANDER BRIGGS

HALLOCK TO DISCUSS JUVENILE COURTS

Arthur E. Hallock, director of the Massachusetts Child Council will speak at the open meeting of the Andover League of Women Voters to be held in the November club, January 21, at 3 o'clock. His years of experience in the council has provided him with a wealth of information and he is well-acquainted with his subject, "The Need for a Juvenile Court System in Massachusetts." It is expected that he will also discuss Governor Bradford's recommendation for a circuit set-up.

The Child Council filed a bill for a Suffolk County Juvenile Court and has been interested in an extension of the Juvenile Court System. The council will be active in the work of the extension to the extent of filing the original bill which the League will probably support.

Because of the interest of other social organizations in the subject of Mr. Hallock's talk, invitations have been sent from the League to various town and Lawrence groups and the general public has also been invited to attend.

The regular business meeting will be held and tea will be served.

THINGS INTERNATIONAL

"The United Nations on the Way" will be the subject of the discussion meetings to be held by the League of Women Voters on January 27 and February 3 and 10.

Mrs. John S. Barss is the leader of the sessions and will notify anyone making a request of the time and place of the meetings which will be held in different parts of town.

Many members are planning to attend the School of International Relations in Cambridge on the 29th and 30th of the month. Transportation may be arranged by telephoning Mrs. Henry Tyer.

The Bitter Truth

Mrs. Black—So you think Millie insulted you?

Mrs. Green—Yes, all I did was ask her where her string of pearls came from, and she said oysters!

Miss Greer Garson, academy award winner, is starring in the 1947 March of Dimes motion picture "trailer", "A Step Forward" appearing at the Andover Playhouse through January 30.

January 24-30 has been set aside as the traditional Theatre March of Dimes Week and during this time, the audiences will be asked to contribute to the drive.

Miss Garson volunteered her part in the movie when the seriousness of the situation confronting the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis was explained to her.

During the year 1946, there were more than 25,000 cases of polio in the United States, the greatest in the history of the National Foundation and second only to the great epidemic of 1916.

Besides leaving $8,000,000 with the local counties last January, Miss Garson was told, the National Foundation exhausted its emergency fund of more than $4,000,000 in meeting emergencies brought on by the serious epidemics of 1946. This fund must be replenished at once in order to meet any foreseeable epidemic during the current year and to guarantee the continuation of the Foundation's impressive program of research and public education.

Besides the local collections made at the Playhouse, boxes for contributions have been placed in convenient places throughout the town, at the schools, and in business establishments. Those wishing to make their contribution direct to the committee may contact the treasurer, James P. Christie, at the Tax Collector's office in the town hall.

Walter Mondale and Harold Wenink are co-chairmen of the Andover drive and Kenneth L. Sherman, Eugene A. Bernardin, George Brewer are assisting.

Vale P. T. A. Meeting

The February meeting of the Ballardvale Parent-Teacher association will be held on February 6 at the home of Mrs. Ralph Greenwood on Tewksbury street. Mrs. Robert Mitchell, chairman, Mrs. Randolph Perry, Mrs. Joseph Bouleau and Mrs. Greenwood are on the refreshment committee.

BELLS AND STORIES

Arthur W. Bassett will tell the stories behind his collection of bells at the next meeting of the Andover Historical society on January 24 at 8 o'clock. Anyone having an interesting bell is invited to bring it to the meeting.

Drama Department to Present Program

The next meeting of the November club will be held on Monday afternoon, January 20, at 3 o'clock in the club house. The Drama department will present Nan Lakerstedt, a great unadvertised genius of the realm of the one woman theater. She will bring dramatic portrayals of every day life.

INCREASE IN TUITION NEXT SEPTEMBER

Effective next September, the tuition at Phillips Academy will jump to $1250, a rise of $50, according to the decision made by the board of trustees at their meeting in the Trustees room a George Washington hall last Sunday. The increase was necessitated by the soaring level of prices as well as the increasing size of the school deficit. It is the second since November, 1945.

A system of nation-wide scope will be organized this summer to carry out a fund-raising campaign and some of the regional directors have already been appointed. The endowment and building campaign with a goal of $3,500,000, will not commence until September. It is expected that $1,000,000 of this will be spent on a new athletic unit and $500,000 set aside for a new dormitory.

The newly elected president of the trustees, Bishop Hobson, was present and was very interested in the affairs of the school.

VALE FRIENDLY GUILD STARTS NURSERY SCHOOL

Members of the Friendly Guild have instituted a new project at the Union Congregational church in Ballardvale. Assisted by a group of Sunday school teachers they are leading a nursery school for small children at the same time as the worship service to permit the parents to attend church.

The Guild is planning to hold a bakery sale in the church vestry Friday afternoon, January 24. Mrs. Ralph Sharpe and Mrs. Robert Mitchell are in charge.

The next business meeting will be held on February 14 at the home of Mrs. Ralph Greenwood on Tewksbury street. Mrs. Randolph Perry will be in charge of the devotional service.

At their meeting held Friday night at the home of Headmaster Claude M. Fuess, the trustees of Phillips Academy elected the Right Reverend Henry Wise Hobson, Bishop of Southern Ohio, as president of the board of trustees, to succeed Colonel Henry L. Stimson, who resigned from the board last December. To fill the resultant vacancy on the board, the trustees named Chauncey B. Garver of New York City.

Bishop Hobson, a member of the class of 1910 at Phillips, was graduated from Yale in 1914. After a distinguished record in World War I, during which he was twice wounded and was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross for "extraordinary heroism in action," he resumed his studies for the ministry which had been interrupted by the war at the Episcopal Theological school, Cambridge. Before being elected Bishop Coadjutor of Southern Ohio in 1930, Bishop Hobson had served as assistant at St. John's church, Waterbury, Conn. and as rector of All Saints' church in Worcester.

In addition to his position as President of the board of trustees of Phillips Academy, Bishop Hobson is chairman of the board of trustees of the Children's hospital in Cincinnati, and a member of the boards of trustees of the Y. M. C. A. and of the Central Clinic, General Hospital of Cincinnati. He and Mrs. Hobson have four children, including one son who is also a graduate of Phillips Academy.

CHAUNCEY B. GARVER
Courtesy of Phillipian

Mr. Garver, a member of the class of 1904 at Andover, was graduated from Yale in 1908 and from the Harvard Law school, where he was editor of the Harvard Law Review, in 1911. He is a practicing lawyer in New York city, a member of the firm of Shearman and Sterling. He is also a member of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York and of the American Bar association.

Mr. Garver served in the Army Air Forces as a second Lieutenant in the first World war. For the third year in succession he is serving as chairman of the Phillips Academy Alumni fund.

OBITUARIES . . .

HOWARD H. P. WRIGHT

Howard H. P. Wright, born in Andover, June 8, 1875, the son of Harlan P. and Maria (Taylor) Wright, died Saturday night at his home, 18 Harrison street, Winchester, following a long illness.

A descendant of the Mayflower colony, the late Mr. Wright received his public school education here. He was a member of the Massachusetts Society of Mayflower Descendants, the Founders and Patriots of America, the Colonial Wars society and the Descendants of Colonial Clergy of America. He held a life membership in the Appalachian Mountain club and was a member of the board of trustees of the Winchester Savings bank. Until his retirement ten years ago, he was secretary of the Massachusetts Hospital Life Insurance company.

He is survived by his wife, Florence E. (Peirce) Wright; a daughter, Mary Alden Wright of Winchester; and one brother, Wendell T. Wright of Medford.

The funeral was held from the late home Tuesday afternoon with Rev. Howard J. Chidley, pastor of the First Congregational church in Winchester officiating. Burial was in the West Parish cemetery.

Rev. Archie H. Crowley, rector of the Grace church, and Rev. Alfred W. Burns, curate, officiated and burial was in Bellevue cemetery. The body lay in state at the church four hours previous to the services which were attended by many pastors and rectors of local churches.

OTTO G. DAVIDEIT

The funeral of Otto G. Davideit, who died last Thursday at the Quincy City hospital after several weeks' illness was held Saturday with burial in Spring Grove cemetery.

A resident of South Main street, the deceased had resided in this town for the past six years.

He is survived by a son, Curtis L. Davideit, a daughter, Mrs. Louise Hogg of Squantum and two other sons and a daughter of Detroit, Michigan.

Rev. Joseph Carden

Funeral services for the late Rev. Joseph Carden, 87 year old retired Episcopal clergyman and former missionary along the Santa Fe railroad, was held Tuesday afternoon at the Grace Episcopal church in Lawrence with burial in Bellevue cemetery.

Born in Lawrence, he was graduated from Hobard College in 1882 after which he was employed as a wool sorter in the Arlington mill. Later her worked as a wool salesman.

In 1892 he graduated from Episcopal Theological Seminary in Cambridge and was ordained a deacon by Bishop Phillip Brooks. His first assignments were in Massachusetts where he served as rector of St. Luke's church, Malden, and St. John's church, Winthrop.

He went to Wisconsin in 1905 and for seven years operated two small missions in Houston, Texas. While in Oklahoma City, serving as a missionary along the Santa Fe railroad, he became an archdeacon.

Retiring in 1931, he returned to New England and lived in Springfield and Lowell before coming to Andover.

Taxable Income To Be Reported

By DENNIS W. DELANEY
Collector of Internal Revenue

The amount of income tax which employers are to withhold from the pay of their employees is the same today as it was during 1946, and will remain the same until the present rates are changed by law.

The latest revenue act, that of 1945 which reduced the tax on incomes received on and after January 1, 1946, is still in effect. The reductions also applied to the amounts of withholding on and after that date and are incorporated in the tax tables issued in Circular WT-Revised 1945, which are the tables employers are presently using.

All those who have had any tax withheld from their wages during 1946 are to receive from their employers a statement in duplicate showing the wages paid and the amount of tax withheld, if any, during the year. Employers are required by law to issue these statements to each employee on or before January 31, and here in Massachusetts they have fully cooperated with this office and with wage earners by getting out forms on time with all the required information.

The W-2 form is important to the employee as he may use it as his income tax return, or he may need the information it contains to prepare the 1040 form return.

Should an individual end employment before the close of the calendar year the W-2 form is required to be furnished to the employee not later than 30 days after the last payment of wages. In cases where there is intermittent or interrupted employment and there is reasonable expectation of further employment during the year, the furnishing of the statement may be deferred to a date not later than 30 days after the expectation of employment ceases to exist.

How Modern Is Modern Art? Do Artists See As They Paint?

Cochran Exhibit Presents Answers

By Comparison of the Old and New

Modern paintings are often like olives; you have to cultivate a taste for them and once you begin to relish them, they are apt to become your favorite dish.

At least it is a possibility and those appreciators of more realistic interpretations of a subject who have not gone beyond the shuddering stage of acceptance when faced with something "that they could not bear to hang in his living room" have an opportunity to increase their understanding of modern techniques and perhaps heighten their regard for the abstract by visiting the current exhibit at Cochran art gallery entitled "Seeing the Unseeable."

The exhibit is a visual course in the appreciation of modern art, carefully planned, step by step, so that you find yourself agreeing with the logic of the premises laid down in the introductory phases, artfully leading you to the conclusion to be formed, factually preparing you to answer the question, "Do Modern Artists Really See Things As They Paint Them?"

To equip yourself to understand the idiomatic translation of a subject given by the modern artist, two, three or even more trips to the gallery may be necessary. It will remain until February 10. The gallery is also planning to publish an illustrated book of the show to make even more available the lessons it imparts.

The division of the exhibit into three parts—an Introduction, a Comparison of Techniques, Old and New, and the Essentials of Modern Abstraction—are simplifying aids to study.

A miniature model of still life consisting of a table, a pitcher, books and a bowl of fruit is set up for comparison first with two photographic reproductions showing how even the photographers interpretation of a subject varies with his control and imagination, with the type of equipment used. It is not surprising then to find a variance in the interpretations of different artists who may use reduction, alteration or arrangement as methods of distorting the original for the purpose of presenting a shorthand to represent actual objects, to acquire aesthetic satisfaction or to express what we know but cannot see.

The works of old masters illustrate that these methods are not new. The Egyptians, too, used an artistic "shorthand" in their factual representations. In paintings of the Annunciation, the halo is used as a symbol to express something we know but cannot see, something drawn from the imagination.

In the Comparison of Techniques it is also evident that the seemingly new methods are not new at all in the uses of color, line, light, shape or spaces and comparisons are made with such great masters as El Greco, Picasso and others that even the most confirmed anti-modernist will not want to miss.

Having completed a calm and thoughtful study of the first two sections of the exhibit, the reviewer may then graduate to the third where the essentials of modern abstraction may tip the applecart of his new found reason. In such cases it would be better to go home and let the facts mull for a day or two before returning to face and find the aesthetic value of modern abstraction. When your mind has accepted the facts, you might find that your senses will accept the result but don't expect too much at once unless you have already developed a taste for modern art.

A similar although less comprehensive approach to modern music was made by George Brown at the Community orchestra concert Sunday afternoon. You can't enjoy it until you understand the language but once you do, you might

How Modern Is Modern Art? Do Artists See As They Paint?

Cochran Exhibit Presents Answers

By Comparison of the Old and New

Modern paintings are often like olives; you have to cultivate a taste for them and once you begin to relish them, they are apt to become your favorite dish.

At least it is a possibility and those appreciators of more realistic interpretations of a subject who have not gone beyond the shuddering stage of acceptance when faced with something "that they could not bear to hang in the living room" have an opportunity to increase their understanding of modern techniques and perhaps heighten their regard for the abstract by visiting the current exhibit at Cochran art gallery entitled "Seeing the Unseeable."

The exhibit is a visual course in the appreciation of modern art, carefully planned, step by step, so that you find yourself agreeing with the logic of the premises laid down in the introductory phases, artfully leading you to the conclusion to be formed, factually preparing you to answer the question, "Do Modern Artists Really See Things As They Paint Them?"

To equip yourself to understand the idiomatic translation of a subject given by the modern artist, two, three or even more trips to the gallery may be necessary. It will remain until February 10. The gallery is also planning to publish an illustrated book of the show to make even more available the lessons it imparts.

The division of the exhibit into three parts—an Introduction, a Comparison of Techniques, Old and New, and the Essentials of Modern Abstraction—are simplifying aids to study.

A miniature model of still life consisting of a table, a pitcher, books and a bowl of fruit is set up for comparison first with two photographic reproductions showing how even the photographers interpretation of a subject varies with his control and imagination, with the type of equipment used. It is not surprising then to find a variance in the interpretations of different artists who may use reduction, alteration or arrangement as methods of distorting the original for the purpose of presenting a shorthand to represent actual objects, to acquire aesthetic satisfaction or to express what we know but cannot see.

The works of old masters illustrate that these methods are not new. The Egyptians, too, used an artistic "shorthand" in their factual representations. In paintings of the Annunciation, the halo is used as a symbol to express something we know but cannot see, something drawn from the imagination.

In the Comparison of Techniques, it is also evident that the seemingly new methods are not new at all in the uses of color, line, light, shape or spaces and comparisons are made with such great masters as El Greco, Picasso and others that even the most confirmed anti-modernist will not want to miss.

Having completed a calm and thoughtful study of the first two sections of the exhibit, the reviewer may then graduate to the third where the essentials of modern abstraction may tip the apperception of his new found reason. In such cases it would be better to go home and let the facts mull for a day or two before returning to face and find the aesthetic value of modern abstraction. When your mind has accepted the facts, you might find that your senses will accept the result but don't expect too much at once unless you have already developed a taste for modern art.

A similar although less comprehensive approach to modern music was made by George Brown at the Community orchestra concert Sunday afternoon. You can't enjoy it until you understand the language, but once you do, you might

BOOKSELLERS CHOOSE

The New York Herald Tribune Weekly Book Review has arranged with the leading booksellers of the country to report each week their sales of first six titles in fiction and non-fiction, and from the reports we get a good picture of what the book interests of America are, and how they change from week to week. It is always interesting to note how closely the borrowers of the Memorial Hall Library follow the national trends in books as indicated by the titles for which they make reserves. With one or two exceptions, Andover's readers are in step with the rest of the nation in their interests in both fiction and non-fiction books. The books listed here, arranged in the order of their popularity, may be

ANDOVER'S CHOICES

Although the very famous "Egg And I" stands next to the top of the national list, it has disappeared entirely from waiting lists here at the library. But the old stand-by, "The Fountainhead," by Ayn Rand, is still holding its place among the reserve cards after being in print since 1943. Only at rare intervals have we had the book on the shelf! "Spoonhandle," and "It's An Old New England Custom," and "Old American Houses And How To Restore Them," are well spoken for, and prove that Andover's readers still have "one foot in New England," at least!

WINTER WONDERLAND

There will be movies at the Memorial Hall Library for all members of the Andover Junior High School, to be held in the library on Wednesday afternoon, January 22, at 2:30 p. m. The movies to be shown are entitled "Winter Wonderland," and "Realm of the Wild." All young people of this age group are invited to attend. As usual, there is no charge for admission.

RE-REGISTRATION

There is a complete re-registration of all borrowers in the adult room of the Memorial Hall Library under way at present. The form to be filled is as simple as that previously used, with the addition of a space in which the borrower may note special interests. These interests are to be placed on file so that the person signing will be notified of new books in his named field of study, etc. All residents of Andover and Ballard Vale, or people employed full time in Andover, are eligible to make applications for cards. Non-residents may become borrowers by paying an annual fee of $2.00.

BOY SCOUT NOTES

Troop 72—Free Church

A patrol contest which is in full swing in Troop 72 finds the Bear Patrol under the leadership of Patrol Leader Louis Skeirik in the lead. This patrol won both the Morse signal relay and blindfold observation races on Friday evening January 10. A Court of Honor is scheduled for Friday, January 17. Scouts who may appear before the court are Louis Skeirik and Doug Hart for First Class and Joe Wenink and Justin Curry for Second Class rank. Further information about the Court of Honor will be given later.

Boy Scout Week

District Committee Chairman V. Malcolm Laitinen has announced that February 7 through 13 will be designated as Boy Scout Week in observance of the founding of Scouting in the United States thirty seven years ago.

Troop 71—Shawsheen School

The troop met in the scout room of the Shawsheen school on Monday evening, January 13, under the leadership of Scoutmaster Everett MacAskill. Chairman of Advancement Walter C. Caswell of the Troop Committee presented Second Class badges to Peter Dunlop of the Flying Eagle Patrol. The Scouts in the new patrol have voted to have it known as the Tiger Patrol. Patrol Leader Jack Caswell has been awarded the initial badge of the God and Country award. Alan F. Dunlop, Chairman of the Troop Committee, talked to the troop in connection with the coming District Scout Jamboree and the Parent Teachers Association Scout Night. The Green-bar staff consisting of Patrol Leaders Jack Caswell, Ed Dean, Everett MacAskill and Assistant Patrol Leaders Peter Miller and Jimmie Baillie met to discuss activities. Second Class tests passed are First Aid, Julian Hill, Joseph Spinella and Walter Tomlinson, Jr. First Class Tests passed are Training, Peter Dunlop; Thrift, Edward Dean, Peter Dunlop, Louis Fiedler, and Thomas Wilkinson; Swimming, Edward Dean and Peter Dunlop; First Aid, Peter Caswell.

Resignation

Last Tuesday, January 14, it was announced that Coach McKiniry had officially requested to be relieved of the duties of coaching football and baseball. Coach McKiniry has done an outstanding job of keeping alive the spirit of competitive sportsmanship through the war years when this spirit was dead in many parts of the world. Mr. McKiniry will coach this year's baseball season as his resignation is not effective until September 1, 1947, and he will continue to coach Punchard basketball teams. He has had a high record of achievement in his few years as coach and has refused to yield to 'high pressure athletics'. The main reason for his resignation is that he may devote more time to his classroom teaching.

It has always been the policy of the school department to have as coach a member of the faculty, and at present there is no position for a male teacher in the high school. Mr. McKiniry's successor will be elected by the School Committee at a later date upon the recommendations of the sub-committee on athletics headed by Dr. Malcolm McTernan, Rev. John Moses, and Mr. William Doherty. We will all miss Mr. 'Mac' on the coaching bench and we wish his successor luck.

March of Dimes

On Friday, January 17, Punchard will have its March of Dimes. There will be an actual march with the students parading into the auditorium and placing their contributions into a collection box placed there for the purpose. It is earnestly hoped that all will contribute to this worthy charity and that a 100 per cent goal can be attained. The students of Punchard all hope that the citizens of the town will contribute as generously by percentage as they plan to do. We should all join The March of Dimes—if not in the Punchard parade, place your contribution in one of the numerous boxes around in the stores for this purpose. Remember that in one out of approximately every hundred families, some one is stricken by Infantile Paralysis, and that we lose more each year from this dreaded disease than we lost during the whole war. Won't you help some one who is afflicted with this dreaded disease?

J.V. Game

By some error, the J.V. game was omitted from the regular basketball schedule. This game, against the Phillips Academy J.V.'s will be played Wednesday, February 12.

D. A. R. Medal

Miss Genevieve Murray's name has been sent to the Betsy Ross chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution as the girl in Punchard's Senior class who most exemplifies the ideals of good citizenship of that organization. The members of the class chose three girls from the class, and the faculty picked Miss Murray from this group to represent Punchard on the D. A. R. pilgrimage.

Football Banquet

The annual football banquet will be held Wednesday evening, January 22 in the cafeteria. The tickets are $1.35 apiece and a baked ham dinner will be served. The caterer is Weigel of Lawrence.

Junior Dance

Last Friday evening, January 10, the Junior Class held a dance in the gymnasium. It was a huge success with a large crowd in attendance. Harold Phinney supplied the music. Plans are now being made for the Junior-Senior prom to be held in June.

Oratorical Contest

The American Legion Oratorical Contest is now open to the Punchard students who wish to try out for it. It is based on the study of the American constitution. This speech must be written out and memorized in order that a student may enter the contest. The contestant goes through the local, regional, state and national meetings. If he wins. The prizes range from $4,000 down. This contest is well worth entering. The American History classes in Punchard have just finished the study of the constitution so Punchard's students should make a good showing for themselves.

Driving Course

The driving course has been cancelled this last week because of the bad weather. It will, of course, be resumed as soon as weather permits.

Gym Team

On the evening of February 14, the Springfield College Gym team will present an exhibition of gymnastics in the Memorial Auditorium. A similar exhibition was enjoyed by Andover residents about 10 years ago. There will be only two performances by the team in this area. One on Friday night, here in Andover, and the other Saturday night, in Melrose. Reserved seats will soon be on sale for $1 and others for 50c. The members of the Punchard Gym team will serve as assistants throughout the program.

Frank A. Davis

Frank A. Davis who has lived in this town for the past 60 years died early Tuesday morning at the O'Donnell sanatorium following a long illness. The 84 year old Ballardvale resident made his home on Tewksbury street and was a retired carpenter.

He is survived by two sons, Edward B. and William A. Davis of Ballardvale; one daughter, Mrs. Albert Fraize; one sister, Mrs. Ida M. Healey; one brother, Lewis Davis, all of Andover; several grandchildren and great-grandchildren, also one niece, Miss Geraldine Healey of Andover.

The funeral will be held from the Lundgren funeral home Friday afternoon with Rev. Arnold Kenseth, pastor of the Union Congregational church officiating. Burial will be in Spring Grove cemetery.

Obituaries...

Edward C. Cole

Edward Charles Cole, 80, a former resident of Andover, died Tuesday evening at the Quincy City hospital following a week's illness.

He was born in St. John's, Newfoundland and came to this town 40 years ago. He made his home on Abbot street, moving to Quincy about five years ago. He is a member of the South Congregational church.

Surviving are two daughters, Violet, wife of Edward P. Grace of 246 Newbury avenue, North Quincy, with whom he made his home, and Mary, wife of Benjamin Durland of Englewood, Colo.; two sons, Frederick B. Cole of Andover, sports editor of the Eagle-Tribune, and James N. Cole of Lawrence, athletic director of Essex Agricultural school, and three grandchildren.

The funeral will be held from the Lundgren funeral home at 2:00 p. m. Saturday with burial in the Spring Grove cemetery. Rev. Frederick B. Noss will officiate.

John W. Barrett

John W. Barrett, a native of Andover, died Tuesday evening at the family home, 67 Saunders street, Lawrence, following a short illness.

He moved to North Andover as a young man where he learned the machinist trade in the Davis and Furber Machine company. He has resided in Lawrence for the past 50 years and was employed for some time as a machinist in the Arlington mills later working for the Lawrence Water Department from where he retired 10 years ago.

Surviving are seven daughters, Mrs. Michael A. Casey, Mrs. Eugene F. Callahan, Mrs. Harry G. Wright, Mrs. James E. Blackwell, Mrs. Charles E. McCarthy and Helen and Gertrude Barrett, all of Lawrence, and several grandchildren.

The funeral will be held from the family home on Friday with a high mass of requiem in St. Mary's church. Burial will be in the immaculate Conception cemetery in Lawrence.

SOUTH CHURCH INCREASES BUDGET

The Annual Meeting of the South Church was held on Wednesday evening. A catered dinner to which about 100 members sat down at 6:30 in the vestry of the church preceded the business meeting. Roy Hardy was appointed as Moderator of the meeting. The usual exchange of greetings to the Free Church was read. The reports of the various organizations of the church were read and approved. The Clerk's report showed a total membership of 778 members. During the past year 40 persons were received into the membership of the church and thirty-one were removed—21 by letter and 10 by death. The proposed budget was accepted giving an increase of ten percent to the staff and increasing various other items in the budget.

The nominating committee, Mrs. Bert G. Spaulding, John Halford, Jr. and Alvin J. Zink, presented the following names as the new officers for the coming year: Deacon, (6 years), Mervin Stevens; Deaconess, (6 years), Mrs. Arthur Cole; members of Prudential Committee at large, (3 years), Mrs. Alexander Wilson, F. Tyler Carlton; Superintendent of Church School, (3 years), Elbert C. Weaver; Superintendent of Fishers, Dr. Malcolm McTernan; Church Treasurer, Cleveland Gilcreast; Assistant Treasurer, John Halford, Jr.; Assistant Treasurer for Benevolences, Harold Wood; member of Finance Committee, Clifford Marshall; Commissioner of Cemetery, Arthur Bassett; Auditors, Dr. William V. Emmons, Dr. Percy J. Look; Clerk, Arthur W. Bassett. These were approved by the meeting.

Rev. Mr. Noss, in closing, spoke of the untiring work of the outgoing officers and of the many valuable services which they had given to the church.

Inspirational Speaker

Through the generosity of the National Organization, Lawrence Girl Scouts are bringing to the Y. M. C. A. on January 27th at 8:00 p. m. a very outstanding speaker, Miss Oleda Schrottky. Miss Schrottky travels all over the United States arousing public interest in work for and with boys and girls. She is most entertaining to men and women, young and old alike, and always seems to arouse the spark of inspiration we all need. Her subject will be "Community Co-operation for Children."

The Boy Scouts, Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., International Institute, and Council of Social Agencies are joining with the Girl Scouts in an attempt to assemble an audience which will be interested in making the influence of the meeting of consequence to the youngsters of Lawrence and surrounding towns. It is urged that all Andover leaders, troop committee members, and those interested in Scouting attend this meeting, which is free of charge.

Troop 36

The troop met Monday afternoon in the Christ Church Parish house, continuing work on the second class badge. A new scout, Gladys Thompson, has been welcomed into the troop.

Troop 27

A meeting will be held next Wednesday afternoon at the Junior High. Three tenderfoot scouts received their pins at the last meeting, Elizabeth Barrett, Ann Merchant and Janet Thompson.

Brownies

At the meeting held Thursday, January 9th, the Brownies worked on bean bags which they plan to finish at this week's meeting. They also plan to begin knitting for the Red Cross.

Troop 40 held election of officers recently, and appointed a secretary and treasurer.

WHERE TO GO .. AND WHEN

COLOR SKI-ME

Panting for a trip to the hills the next time they are covered with powder, I went out in the rain and hail Tuesday and bought myself a pair of ski trousers to replace the remainder of a choice dinner the moths enjoyed last summer. The salesman showed me a very appealing pair in powder blue, but I bought navy figuring that they would pick up the powder the first time they sailed down Belknap with me in them. The salesman also suggested a reindeer sweater for which he wanted more than a little doe but I resisted thinking that the antlers looked a little too lifelike for comfort on the turns.

Ski pants have been victims of inflation and their prices have soared so that it's enough to make a prospective buyer feel the same way, sore that is, and so it was certainly a pleasure to find a good-looking pair right in Andover at something like the pre-war cost. (This is not an ad, just a hint.)

There is something about purchasing new ski clothes that makes you feel as if you can leave the snowplows to the B.P.W. and henceforth concentrate on the more intricate fetes of the sport. That lasts while you're in the store impressing yourself but on of the slopes you often find to the detriment of your balance that the fetes get mixed up and the outfit doesn't look new long.

Clothes may make a man but not a gelandesprung.

Community Cooperation

The Central Parent Teacher association urges their members to hear Miss Oleda Schrottky speak on "Community Cooperation" at the Lawrence Y. W. C. A. at 8:00 p. m., January 27. Her talk is sponsored by the National organization for the Lawrence Girl scouts and Andover troops are also planning to be present.

Miss Schrottky will also be the principal speaker at the Mid-winter Parent Teacher Conference to be held in Boston on January 30 to which a delegation from the Central are planning to go. It is hoped that all members will attend one of these meetings.

NEW DATE

The postponed Sawyer Foundation Concert by Richard Dyer Bennett, American Ballad Singer, has been rescheduled for Friday evening, January 17. It will begin at 8:30 in the auditorium of Phillips academy.

Concert

Don't forget the Celebrity Concert at George Washington Hall on January 31, 8:00 p. m. Witold Malcuzynski will play the works of Frederic Francois Chopin.

Exhibit

Seeing the Unseeable, an exhibit at Addison Art Gallery, will remain until February 10 but it takes two or three trips to really digest the wealth of information relating to the abstract conception of modern art that is presented. (Review on Page 9).

Something Concrete

The Amvets will hear an informal talk on "Something Concrete in Housing" Thursday night at 8:30, in their headquarters in the Town house. Leslie R. Porter will be the speaker and any veterans and their families are invited to attend.

Teachers' Education Meeting Public

The Andover Teachers' Association has announced plans for an educational meeting to be held on Thursday, January 30th, in the school auditorium. The program arranged is of interest to both teachers and parents, and the general public is cordially invited to attend.

The program will begin with talks by Arthur T. Lyman, president of the Bay State Schools, Inc., and Miss Margaret G. Reilly of the same organization. They will present the story of Bay State Schools, a movement designed to give the state of Massachusetts a Boys Town and a Girls Town of its own.

The main speaker of the evening will be a young man from Andover, John Munroe, who now heads the veterans' service program at Harvard University. He will present to the audience his own deep convictions about the individual, and where he fits into the rapidly changing world of today. Mr. Munroe has spoken previously on this same subject at a meeting of the Men's Club of the South Church in Andover, and the welcome with which the talk met at that time convinced the committee that a repeat of his talk would be valuable in order that more of Andover's citizens might hear his message.

The speakers will be introduced by Mervin Stevens of the Punched High School faculty, who is acting as chairman of the program committee for this meeting. Serving on the committee with Mr. Stevens are Miss Alice Bisbee and Arthur Weiss of the Junior High School faculty.

U. N. Is Offered a Home

New York will fight to hold U. N. if it takes Rockefeller's last nickel. John D. offered an $8,500,000 six-block water-front site to keep the United Nations in the big city. Aladdin has stepped into the picture in U. N.'s housing crisis. The only question is whether there is anybody in the United Nations who can veto a lamp.

From Flushing Meadow to a Rockefeller center in one blueprint is quite a travelogue. One minute U. N. seemed like a forlorn G. I. searching for an unoccupied Quonset. The next minute he was having six blocks of New York's choice real estate handed him on a gold platter. NO cover charge.

If there were long months when Miss United Nations thought New York was cold to her, she now must realize she is being suddenly pursued with $8,500,000 worth of love and six blocks of unmortgaged passion.

Pa Knickerbocker might have let her go to California, but to pass up Gotham for Philadelphia . . . never!

Pa knew that a city that could hold as many five-star attractions as it had always been able to hold would look cheap getting a rejection slip from an organization with a global audience.

The proposed site has many advantages. It is located where the diplomats may see a poor-house from one window, East Side life from another, the very heart of New York from another and some society residential sectors from another. If the view doesn't give them a democratic intermingling of scenic effects, characters and types of living, nothing will.

The rich, the poor, the middle classes, the "haves and the have nots"; the limousine and the subway sets, the people who have the veto and the people who merely have the corner delicatessen and Grogan's bar . . . they're all visible there on a clear day.

The six-block area now is mostly the habitat of meat packers and slaughterers and is known as the beef zone. There are those who insist U. N. possession won't change that name.

Any day you can stand in this zone and hear the doomed sheep bah-h-ing as they are led to slaughter. We commend the sound to some of the more selfish and obstreperous figures in U. N.

Personally we are not too sure about a super peace center in the heart of Manhattan as a brotherly love influence. It seems to us that the world organization needs an atmosphere of calm, leisure and dignity rather than one of speed, traffic jams, general jostling and high-pressure chaos. We would say it would do better with a background less like big business and card-index efficiency and more like Bethlehem and starry night.

Men engaged in the greatest job of history, the bringing of peace and the brotherhood of man to a blitzed and baffled globe need something more than express elevators, 38 floors of de luxe offices, special lighting, adjacency to the subway and an opportunity to lunch at the Busy Bee cafe between debates.

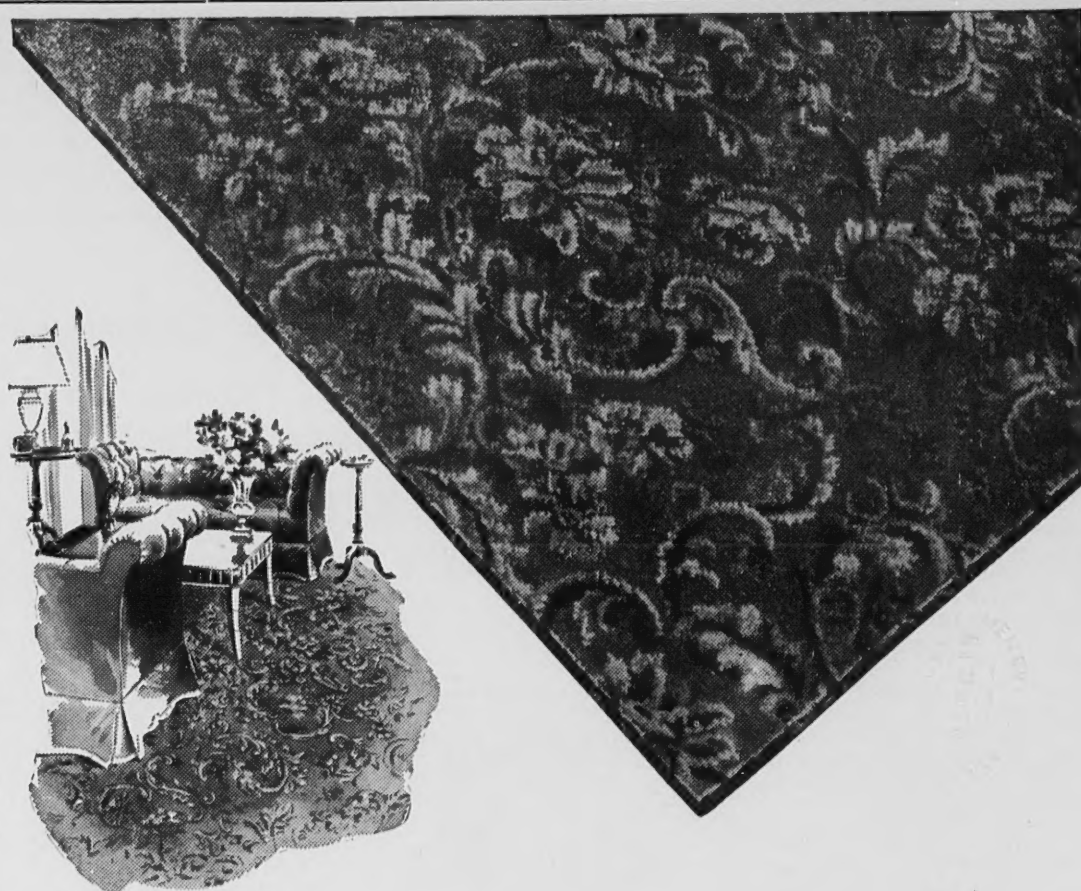

Still a home is a home and it's nothing to sneeze at. And as Grant said, "Let us love peace"—every eight million dollars will help.

MESSAGE FROM

dear sir colon all i hope is that with the united nations functioning in a great skyscraper center the dove of peace doesn't get caught in a revolving door period yours comma pettigrew the penguin.

We assume names for the new U. N. center will be desired, and the first that come to mind include Amity Arms and Concord Towers.

SULLIVAN'S

THE BIG FURNITURE STORE

HOW BIG a part does "instinct" play in sport? Glenn Davis, Army's star all-around back, gave one answer against Pennsylvania in the third period.

In his day and time Davis has made his share of long runs, thrown and caught his share of passes, while also ranking high among the blockers, tacklers and kickers. But on this play in particular Davis ran 40 yards and then, from a swirl of Red and Blue tacklers, completely surrounded, the Army back tossed a sudden lateral to Tavzel, a tackle. Tavzel then ran 40-odd yards for a touchdown.

After the game we asked Davis how he managed to find an opening on that bewildering lateral play.

"What lateral play?" Davis asked. "I don't remember any lateral play."

"As a matter of fact," he continued, with a grin, "I don't remember anything that happened in that period. I caught a good clout on the head and I haven't the slightest recollection of anything that took place after that."

"Don't you remember two long runs you made?" we asked.

"No, I don't," Davis said.

"The tackles you made — the passes you threw — the kicks you got away?"

"Not the slightest idea," he said. "I remember someone asked me what period it was and I thought the game had just started. I didn't remember anything that had happened before."

Glenn Davis

It Has Happened Before

So here was a back playing in a complete fog, yet working perfectly with the signals, picking his openings, running on the same strong, fast legs, able to hit his receivers, alert enough to throw a sudden and surprising lateral that ordinarily would have demanded the keenest type of reflex action.

Naturally, the Army coaching staff knew nothing of this mental blotting out, as Davis looked to be at his best. And even after his head had cleared later on there was still no memory of what took place in those 15 minutes.

We recall other cases along this same subconscious order. In one of his early California fights, Jack Dempsey was nailed on the chin in the first round.

"That was the last thing I remember," Jack said later. "When I came to I thought I had been knocked out but was surprised to hear I'd won the decision. I could remember nothing after that punch."

Years ago Bat Nelson told me that Aurelio Herrera, the hard-hitting Mexican, once hit him with a full right. "I turned a complete somersault," Bat said, "and the lights went out. That happened in the 5th round. Around the 17th round my head cleared and later I knocked Herrera out. But I could not recall anything that happened in those 12 rounds."

We'll have to leave it to far greater brain experts as to what happens when a fellow in a complete mental fog still can go along boxing and punching, or obeying signals, throwing passes and laterals, that usually demands the highest type of mental poise.

Baseball Prospects

In the midst of all the football chatter, we were glad to stumble into a covey of baseball people, including both managers and players.

They were talking about the Yankees of 1947, and their chance to reach for the pennant after this year's sudden dip.

One respected veteran had this to say—"Don't forget that in Larry MacPhail, Bucky Harris and Charley Dressen, the Yankees have leadership that can match anything in either league. Smart, able, keen to move back up. And don't forget the Yankees still have a number of fine ball players who are sure to improve over their 1946 form, which developed one of the most remarkable team batting slumps I ever saw."

This is true. MacPhail, Harris and Dressen know what it is all about. And such former good hitters as Stirnweiss, Rissuto, Joe DiMaggio, Henrich and one or two others should be a good many points closer to .300 than they were this last fall.

"Few people realize," MacPhail said, "that our pitching staff allowed fewer earned runs than any team in either league, barring only the Cardinals. We had good enough pitching, and we'll have much better pitching next year."

The Yankees, with Aaron Robertson and some new talent, may have the best catching staff in the league. An infield that comprises Henrich at first, Stirnweiss at second, Rissuto at short and Young Brown at third can return to its old form.

So can DiMaggio and Charlie Keller.

That Explains It

A visitor to the senate gallery in Washington was accompanied by his small son. The little boy watched when the session was called to order.

"Why did the minister pray for all those men, Pop," he asked later.

"He didn't. He looked them all over and prayed for the country."
